

Parent & Family Engagement

Parents + School = Student Success

At G.W. Floyd Elementary School, we believe families are essential partners in helping every child succeed. We want our parents and families to be informed, involved, and confident that their voices matter in their child's education.

Stay Informed

Floyd provides families with timely information about school programs, Title I, curriculum, assessments, student progress, meetings, and upcoming events. We communicate through the school website, newsletters, social media, schoolwide notifications, phone calls, parent conferences, written notices, and direct communication from teachers and staff.

Be Involved

Parents and families are encouraged to participate in Open House, parent conferences, Title I meetings, parent training opportunities, and other school activities throughout the year. Whenever possible, meetings and activities are offered at different times to make participation easier for our families.

Parents are also encouraged to complete surveys, attend planning meetings, ask questions, share concerns, and offer suggestions. Your feedback matters and is considered as we make decisions about programs, family engagement, and school improvement.

Know How Your Child Is Doing

Families receive regular information about their child's academic progress through graded assignments, progress reports, report cards, parent-teacher conferences, written communication, and phone calls. Parents may also request a meeting with school personnel to discuss their child's progress or educational needs.

Learn With Us

Floyd provides parents with information and opportunities to learn more about Reading, Math, Writing, state assessments, the Alabama Literacy Act, the Alabama Numeracy Act, Title I requirements, academic expectations, and ways to support learning at home.

We Share the Responsibility

Our School-Parent Compact outlines how students, parents, teachers, and school personnel work together to support student achievement. Parents have opportunities to review the compact, provide feedback, and participate in Title I and school-improvement planning.

Access for Every Family

We want every Floyd family to have an opportunity to participate. Translation and interpretation services are available for families who need assistance in another language. We also work to provide reasonable accommodations and remove barriers that could prevent parents or family members from participating in their child's education.

Your Voice Matters!

We encourage you to ask questions, attend meetings, complete surveys, share ideas, and stay involved. When families and schools work together, our students have a stronger opportunity to succeed.

Every Child, Every Chance, Every Day.
